HITLER MASSING FOR DEFENSE OF AFRICA

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE

You folks who have been wondering and worrying about how this prospective gasoline rationing will work... turn to the editorial page of your Record-Herald right now and read "Gasoline Rationing Questions Answered"... you'll find it beneath the serial story... that will not only satisfy much of your curiosity but solve some of your problems to boot... it's one of the simplest and most complete expositions of what apparently is a complicated situation I have seen yet.

Incidentally, I would like to recommend that spot in the paper for your daily reading... there's something different there every day... the stories are more for entertainment than coverage of spot news... they cover such a wide variety of subjects that they appeal to everyone... each one is like a surprise package... they are colorful and well written... let me suggest that you get the habit of reading them.

The man had clearly partaken too much of fire water and was having great difficulty keeping his feet from getting tangled as he staggered down the sidewalk.

A man who was walking along the street noticed the one with the tangle-foot under his belt, and, seeing a local business man standing in the doorway, proceeded to imitate the aforesaid intoxicated individual.

Now the business man had not noticed the intoxicated man, so he said to the one who was doing the imitating:

"Drunk again, eh?"

The intoxicated one halted unsteadily on his feet, tried to glare at the man who had made the remark, and said:

"None of your business. I paid for it, and I've got more money than you have!"

A well earned honor has been bestowed upon Kenneth Shoemaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Shoemaker. He has been chosen one of 19 students at Ohio Northern University by the faculty committee as an outstanding student in the senior class.

Six hundred and fifty universities throughout the country each year choose meritorious students from their senior classes, which distinction serves as an incentive to the students to get the most out of their college careers, is a means of commendation for what they have already achieved, and serves also as a recommendation when they enter the business world. The standards of measurements which are requisite for the honor include scholarship, character, leadership, extra-curricular activities, and potentialities for future usefulness in business and society.

Kenneth is a senior in Liberal Arts, vice-president of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, treasurer of the senior class, and one of the shining lights in varsity football, basketball and track. He played right end in the Ohio Conference game last Saturday which Ohio Northern won, his third year on that position.

Kenneth graduated from WHS in 1938, a Blue Lion grid star, and a student of much merit, and we are mighty proud that he is still climbing the ladder to fame, with his foot on the top rung, as this new honor implies.

18-19 YOUTHS WILL REGISTER DECEMBER 11-17

Presidential Proclamation
Sets Dates for Boys Not Yet Registered

DEFERMENTS TIGHTENED

Farm Workers Ordered To Report to Draft Boards
If They Leave Jobs

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—(AP)—President Roosevelt fixed three separate registration periods today for youths who have reached or will reach their 18th birthdays in the last half of this year.

By proclamation, he set the week beginning December 11 and ending December 17 for draft registration of those who became 18 in July and August.

Young men who reached that age in September and October will register in the following week and those who became 18 in November and December will register in the week starting December 26 and closing December 31.

Mr. Roosevelt also provided for continuous registration on their birthdays of youths who become 18 on or after next January 1. If the birthday falls on a Sunday or holiday, they must register the next day.

This will be the sixth draft registration. The last, on June 30, covered young men who already were 18 or 19 and those who had become 20 since the preceding registration.

The new registration will take place simultaneously in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico, with daily registration hours fixed for 9 A. M. to 5 P. M. (local time).

Late registrants will be permitted for those unable to present themselves during the stated periods because of circumstances beyond their control.

They had been instructed to reclassify all registrants heretofore deferred because of conviction of crimes.

The army has authorized waivers in "especially meritorious cases" even for men who have

Allies Press Drive Against Japs

Naval and Island Battles
Have Strengthened Plans
For Continued Offense

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Nov. 18—(AP)—Japanese forces continue to fall back toward Buna but their air force has re-emerged in an attempt to harass Allied columns closing relentlessly on that Papuan base, today's communique disclosed.

Latest reports from the New Guinea front said advanced Allied ground units, now directed in the field by General MacArthur, were pushing on toward the coast from Afala, only 30 trail miles from Buna, without meeting serious opposition.

In the first attempt in some weeks to challenge Australian and American air command over New Guinea, 18 bombers and fighters attacked advanced Allied ground units Monday in the Buna area and sank two trawlers along the coast.

But American planes twice swept over the enemy air field at Lae, northwest along the coast from Buna and destroyed seven bombers and seven fighters on the ground and one Zero that attempted the interception.

Heavy bombers of the southwest Pacific Command set fire to a large merchantman at Rabul, New Britain, and destroying three enemy aircraft on an airdrome runway in the Buin-Faisi area of the northern Solomons.

Probability of an Axis attack in an attempt to offset the United Nations' North African offensive is seen by observers. It is believed the two most likely moves are a thrust through either Turkey or Syria.

DAIRY PRODUCTS TO GET SCARCE

Rationing of Cheese and Milk Along with Meat
In Prospect on Hint

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Wickard has told the war production board's food requirements committee that dairymen can not possibly supply next year's demands and that as a consequence the government should take immediate steps to limit consumption of some dairy products.

Sources which could not be quoted by name said today that Mr. Wickard, who is chairman of the WPB food committee, felt that cheese should be placed under rationing along with wheat, that the production of ice cream should be reduced at least 25 percent below this year's level, and that consumer rationing of fluid milk should be established in milksheds facing short supplies.

Meat is scheduled to be placed under rationing shortly after the first of the year.

Political Deal with Darlan
Only Temporary, He Says;
De Gaulle Satisfied

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—(AP)—Free and fighting Frenchmen had President Roosevelt's categorical assurance today that political arrangements made with Admiral Jean Darlan in North Africa were "only a temporary expedient," dictated by military necessity.

In a statement obviously designed to allay mounting unrest over the part being played by Darlan, who was a Vichy collaborator until he was captured by American troops, the president said the "present temporary arrangement" in North Africa was "justified solely by the stress of battle."

The statement drew prompt expressions of gratification from fighting French spokesmen both here and abroad.

"I thoroughly understand and approve the feeling in the United States and Great Britain and among all the other United Nations," Mr. Roosevelt said, "that in view of the history of the past two years no permanent arrangement should be made with Admiral Darlan."

"We are opposed to Frenchmen who support Hitler and the Axis," Gen. Charles De Gaulle, leader of the fighting French, had declared in London that he and his followers could not accept any arrangement that would "in effect" set up a Vichy regime in North Africa.

Mr. Roosevelt said the "temporary arrangement" already had accomplished two military objectives, the first of which was to save lives, French lives as well as American and British lives.

"The second," he added, "was the vital factor of time. The temporary arrangement has made it possible to avoid a mopping up period in Algeria and Morocco which might have taken a month."

Sidelights on the War

CHUNGKING, Nov. 18—(AP)—The Chinese Press greeted the United States naval victory in the Solomon Islands today as a turning point in the battle of the Pacific. The official Central Daily News said "the key to final victory has been put in the hands of the Allies both in the East and in the West."

NEW DELHI, India, Nov. 18—(AP)—Two patrol clashes in Burma within the past 48 hours and continued Allied air operations against Japanese Burmese bases were reported today in a joint United States-British communique.

LONDON, Nov. 18—(AP)—RAF fighter planes damaged a number of locomotives during sweeps in Northern France and Belgium, the Air Ministry reported today.

BERLIN, (from German broadcasts), Nov. 18—(AP)—The German News Agency DNB reported today that it had learned the Russians were manning the "few German prisoners" in their hands.

LONDON, Nov. 18—(AP)—Czech government sources said today that 40 executions within five days had been reported from Prague in a new wave of Nazi terrorism which they believed was intended to curb the enthusiasm of Czechs over Allied successes in Africa.

Nazi U-Boat Fights Back When Planes Attack It

U. S. 12TH AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, Algeria, Nov. 15—(Delayed)—(AP)—British-manned American-made planes figured in a strange submarine-airplane battle in the Mediterranean in which a U-boat was knocked out after she had damaged four attacking bombers, it was disclosed today.

A group of five Hudson bombers of the RAF coastal command located the German submarine and the leading plane swept in to loose depth charges within ten feet of the conning tower.

Unable or unwilling to submerge, the German crewmen fired on the plane, smashed a gasoline tank and hit four out of the five bombers as they swept over in attack, although none of the plane crewmen was hurt.

ALLIED FORCES MOVING IN TO TAKE TUNISIA

Hundreds of Air Transports
In Southern Italy for Carrying Axis Troops

ROMMEL'S ARMY SQUEEZED

Russians Continue To Hold Positions and Spain Is Mobilized for Defense

By ROGER D. GREENE

(By The Associated Press)
Adolf Hitler was reported massing a fleet of more than 1,000 planes in southern Italy, Crete, Sardinia and Sicily in an attempt to defend the last Axis bases in North Africa today as the Nazi-controlled Paris radio announced that German troops had "captured" Bizerte in Tunisia.

Use of the word "captured" appeared to refute previous Berlin assertions that the Germans moved in "to defend their French compatriots in Tunisia" and met only cooperation from French soldiers in the vital north African buffer state.

Tunisia lies between American-held Algeria on the west and Italian Tripolitania on the east.

Simultaneously, British parachute troops borne by huge American transport planes were reported swarming down on key points in the Mediterranean coastal colony, spearheading an advance by perhaps 150,000 Allied soldiers from Algeria.

American sky troops already had occupied an airport on the Tunisian frontier.

Military secrecy hid the extent of the Allied thrust into Tunisia, but a British broadcast quoted Lieut. Gen. Kenneth A. N. Anderson, commander of the British 1st Army, as declaring himself satisfied with a "very good start" by his forces.

German broadcasts boasted that Axis troops were well established and ready to meet the Allied offensive.

"Following the occupation of Bizerte, the initiative now is in the hands of the Germans and Italians in Tunisia," a Nazi broadcast said.

Reports of intensified British submarine activities indicated that Hitler was desperately seeking to rush sea-borne reinforcements across the Mediterranean to the Dark Continent, as well as concentrating great numbers of planes for a showdown battle.

But the Axis claw that only a few months ago threatened to squeeze the entire Middle East was now steadily withdrawing its burnt fingers.

While Anglo-American troop columns drove eastward into Tunisia, British headquarters announced that Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's British 8th Army advanced 80 miles across the Libyan desert yesterday to reach a point only 70 miles from the Axis base at Bengasi on the Gulf of Sirte.

The new British sweep in pursuit of Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's tattered armies narrowed the Axis "escape gap" between Tunisia and Libya to about 820 miles.

Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, British Middle East commander-in-chief, told newsmen that only 15 of 500 Axis tanks in Egypt escaped destruction or capture, but predicted that Rommel would attempt a stand near El Agheila, at the bottom of the Gulf of Sirte.

Rommel himself was reported in Tunisia for a last-ditch attempt to stem the Allied offensive.

Conflicting reports variously figured the French in Tunisia as aiding both the Allies and the Axis, some responding to Hitler's appeal for help while others accepted Admiral Jean Darlan's invitation to fight on the side of the United Nations.

The German-controlled Paris radio asserted that French colonialists fought against Allied

Blue Lions Football Team Guest of Lions Club

Members of the 1942 Blue Lion football team were the dinner guests of the Lions Club of Washington C. H. Tuesday evening at the Country Club in celebration of the Blue Lions' SCO championship.

At the beginning of the program, the first and last verse of America was sung under the direction of Robert H. Craig, the Lions song leader, John Sagar, president of the Lions Club introduced the guests of the Lion Club members and asked Carol McCoy, the WHS cheerleader, to lead a cheer in honor of the team.

After the cheer, the group joined in and sang "Go Washington" and "Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition." These songs were directed by Paul Fitzwater the WHS band leader. John Sagar then turned the meeting over to Robert Terhune, who arranged the program and acted as toastmaster. He introduced A. B. Murray, superintendent of schools, who spoke a few words of praise for the team, coaches and Lions. Fitzwater, music supervisor of the city schools and band leader, thanked the Lions for the compliments they paid the band and said this year's band was the best he had ever lead. Two other WHS faculty members, H. F. McCann, faculty director of athletics, and G. B. Vance, who has been the time keeper for the WHS games for many years, were introduced. Terhune presented Bob Allen, captain of the 1942 football team, who spoke a few words. He thanked the Lions for the banquet and support given the team. He also stressed the spirit which was necessary in order to win eight out of nine games.

Coach Jerry Kissell explained his coming to WHS and his first look at the team. Kissell said he thought that the team ought to win four of the games scheduled but no more. "It didn't look too prosperous at the first of the season and we had no high hopes. However, we got some boys who wanted to play so we started," Kissell said. "We didn't have many boys—only 24 when the season ended. The weather helped us some for the lightness of the boys made playing better when the weather was right." He said the injury jinx did not affect the team at the beginning of the season and at the last when it did some of the second stringers showed up as well as the first stringers. Factors which helped to win more games were the good cheer, leaders, fine band (the only game lost was the one the band did not attend), and good community spirit. The training rules helped keep the boys in shape during the season even though most of the teams outweighed the WHS lightweights. Bexley's average weight of their players was 21 pounds to the man more than WHS's.

Kissell then introduced each member of the team to those present, including Billy Campbell the mascot. The guest speaker of the evening was Tippy Dye now assistant freshman coach at Ohio State University. Dye prefaced his talk by saying: "The last time I was here two years ago, I was head coach at Grandview and I brought my ball team here in high hopes of winning from the Blue Lions, but we were beaten by a score of 15 to 0 and we went back to Columbus on the short end."

Following his talk, Dye showed motion pictures of the Ohio State-Indiana game held on October 3 which State won. He explained each play and gave the players names as the movie was shown. The program closed with the singing of the Alma Mater by the group. Fitzwater lead the singing and Mrs. Lamoine Everhart accompanied on the piano. After the program, Dye talked with some of the Lions and the team members about the Michigan-Ohio State game Saturday. He said that he thought that State would win and pointed out Michigan has a problem of re-placements. When asked about Tom Kuzma, Michigan's star, Dye said he was not anything like Tom Harmon. The guests at the banquet were: F. E. Hill, W. Clarke, C. Cutlip, F. Mark, E. V. Tool, F. E. Ellis, M. Devis, Jr., B. Denton, H. H. Denton, Dewey Shiedler, Fred Foster, Stan Mark, Sr., Harry Ferguson, Champ Clark, M. A. Rife, Ralph Love, Charles Dunton, Edward Yonkie, Dale Tool, James Gage, George O'Brian, Mrs. Lamoine Everhart and Misses Carol McCoy, Frannie McDonad, Barbara Parker, Nancy Lee James, Marie Marchant and Mary Sexton.

-Spying- On Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Football isn't all fun dept.: A few weeks ago you may have read that when the Woodward, Iowa, High School football coach answered Uncle Sam's call, the town parson took over his coaching duties. . . . Now comes a letter from Rev. "Dad" Krenmyre reporting that after Woodward had a fair season, some one dug up an old rule requiring a coach to teach two other subjects. . . . Since the parson merely was winning for nothing, paying someone to take care of some of his other duties and nursing more sore muscles than most people have good ones, he couldn't fill that requirement. . . . As a result, all of Woodward's games were ordered forfeited and even the three teams that beat "Dad's" school lost credit for it when the official scores were changed to 1-0. . . . We'd be inclined to use stronger language than Rev. Krenmyre's one-word comment: "Piffle."

Today's Guest Star

Gordon Cobbledick, Cleveland Plain Dealer: "What the war has done and will do to baseball is well known and loudly lamented, but it may prove a boon to ball players—at least to those of the current generation. For some hundreds of them are learning what most of us had to learn long ago—namely that working for a living isn't such a tough dodge after all."

One-Minute Sports Page

Reporting to New York football writers, Adrian Berwick of the OWI said that out of 3,000 words of daily news sent to London for army consumption, about half concerns sports and 1,300 of the daily 1,800 words sent to India for "The Roundup," an army newspaper, also is sports news. . . . And the requests from soldiers are for more instead of less sports news, he added.

Connie Mack Is To Trade Bob Johnson

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Connie Mack and big Bob Johnson, the Philadelphia Athletics' hard-slugging Indian outfielder, came to a peaceful parting of the ways today after ten long, and sometimes hard, years. Connie announced that the pride of the A's would be traded at the Chicago major league meeting opening Dec. 1, if a suitable deal can be arranged, and added: "He deserves a chance to play on a pennant contender."

Johnson went home to Oregon to hunt and get a war plant job at the close of the 1942 season, announcing that he never again would play "with a team as poor as the last-place Athletics." Johnson, who will be 34 years old Nov. 28, joined the Athletics in 1933.

DODGER PILOT TO BE NAMED AT 2 P. M. THURSDAY

Lippy Leo May Get Job and Then He May Not—Rickey's Man of Convictions, Too

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—It won't be long now until Leo Durocher, to say nothing of the rest of the baseball world, will know whether the manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers next season is to be Leo Durocher.

In fact, at exactly 2 P. M. tomorrow, Branch Rickey, the new Dodger president, will have a definite answer for Durocher and a few thousand anxious Flatbush fans, as well as anyone else who might be interested. Branch the Brain and Leo the Lip huddled for something like eight hours yesterday and worked out a number of problems, but the actual managerial assignment wasn't one of them.

Durocher, finding himself matched, if not over-matched, in the art of conversation, had little to say when the conference ended, but Rickey promised he would come to a decision tomorrow.

There was an indication that Durocher might be asked to return to the active player list. "I used to think he was a corking good shortstop," Rickey said in discussing the conference later, "and in my judgment he still is a good player, if he would only think so. That could be a part of the question before us."

Durocher, now 37, did not play at all last year—his fourth as Dodger skipper—and not much the year before. But questioned later, he declared: "Sure, I can play—if I have to."

White Sox Boss Made Happy by Boys in Service

CHICAGO, — (AP) — Jimmy Dykes, pugacious Chicago White Sox manager, shifted the ever-present cigar in his mouth which signalled that he had something to say. "I'm happy—and it's a funny feeling being that way when you got so many troubles," he said. "Two more of my lads enlisted and that makes 18 in all to answer Uncle Sam's call. Of that I'm proud and happy."

"But, boy, have I got troubles! I nearly have to rebuild my whole baseball team for next year"—and with that he viciously sank his teeth into the cigar. Dykes had just received word from Len Perme, the left handed pitcher brought up from Waterloo, Ia., of the three eye league last September, that he had joined the Navy. Earlier in the day, Myril Hoag sent in the tidings of his enlistment in the Army Air Forces at Mather Field, Sacramento, Cal.

That placed 18 stars on the Sox service flag, one of gold in memory of Gene Stack, the first major leaguer to be drafted, who died last June.

Close Games Feature of Ladies Loop

The league leading Hawkinson Treaders took a two out of three beating at the hands of Light's Daughters at the South Main Street bowling alleys Tuesday night to tighten up the Ladies' League race. It was one of the hottest matches of the season to date; for, not only were the scores all close but the two teams met on almost even terms inasmuch as the Treaders had only a single pin advantage in the 93 and 92 handicap.

Giving the Montgomery Ward girls a 10-pin handicap, the Craig Air Steppers eked out a two game victory on adjoining alleys in a match that was even closer than the one in which the league leaders got set back. From start to finish, it was nip and tuck with the Montgomery Ward girls holding a 12-pin edge in the 2326 to 2314 total score, although they lost the last two games of the match, the finale by a mere 9 pins.

Hunting Season Opens Here at Noon on Friday

Fayette County hunters, as well as thousands of others throughout Ohio are preparing to start into the fields and woods at the noon hour Friday, to hunt pheasants, Hungarian partridges, rabbits, grouse and raccoon, with indications that in this area pheasants and rabbits will be found in abundance. However, a great many farmers have posted their lands against hunting, and indicate their intention of following it up with prosecution of violators. Trapping season on mink, muskrat, opossum, skunk and raccoon also begins Friday. Red fox season in southern Ohio also opens on that date—in northern Ohio there is no closed season on foxes.

Former Game Warden Here Removed by State Order

The State Civil Service Commission has sustained a removal order filed against Clyde L. Srofe, of Waverly, former Seventh District Supervisor for the Conservation Division, who was well known to many Fayette County residents.

Srofe had worked in Fayette County as well as in Highland and other adjoining counties, and had assisted in many cases where the aid of more than one conservation officer was required in this part of Ohio.

Gertrude Jones, Civil Service Commission chairman, said in a memorandum to conservation commissioner Don Waters: "After careful consideration of the evidence adduced at the hearing of the appeal of Clyde L. Srofe from your order removing him from the position of conservation officer, division of conservation and natural resources, the state civil service commission sustained the order of removal filed against him." Waters suspended Srofe last July 1 on charges of intoxication. The commission accused Srofe, veteran of more than 20 years in conservation service, of appearing before a public meeting of the Scioto County Coonhunters' Association while under the influence of liquor.

Everett E. Ridge of Portsmouth was named acting supervisor after Srofe's removal from the $175-a-month job.

'T' Party is on Tap When Michigan and Ohio Meet Saturday

By JOHN COLBURN

COLUMBUS, Nov. 18.—(AP)—A gridiron "T" party is on tap here Saturday when the powerful eleven of Michigan and Ohio State collide in Ohio's horseshoe stadium.

The "T" backfield formation—the four backfield men who line up to form the letter "T", with the quarterback standing directly behind center to take the ball—is one of the most deceptive in football, involving clever multiple ball-handling.

Michigan and Ohio already have made limited use of the "T" but in Saturday's contest they may depend on it to a greater extent as they resort to speed and deception in an effort to outmaneuver each other's powerful lines.

Speed is paramount for successful operation of the "T" but these two old rivals have plenty of swift and may run each other ragged for 60 minutes before the anticipated crowd of 80,000.

In Michigan's backfield are Capt. George Ceithaml at quarterback, Tom Kuzma and Paul White, halfbacks, and Sophomore Bob Wise at fullback. Ohio has Capt. George Lynn at quarterback, Paul Sarringhaus and Les Horvath at halfbacks and Sophomore Gene Fekete in the fullback spot. Ceithaml, like Lynn, bears the

TOUGH JOB AHEAD

While for the first time in many dreary months the war news from Africa gives opportunity for a feeling of exaltation, there is as yet no grounds for a tendency on the part of commentators to assume that the war now is nearing a quick and victorious end for us.

Although American and British forces, reported to be well equipped are making progress in Africa, anyone who seeks to interpret current events would be making a serious error if, in appraising what is going on in North Africa, he failed to get out an atlas and consult the physical features of Southern Europe, which we assume to constitute the site of the effective second front.

This can be done without giving information to the Nazis, who know every rock and footpath of those mountainous regions which for our casual purposes consist of variations in the ink colors on maps.

Look briefly at any good physical map of Southern Europe. You will see that there is just one narrow path up from the sea which is not obstructed by mountain ranges. That is through the Rhone Valley. The mouth of the Rhone, the foot of its valley, lies west of Marseilles, France.

To the west of the Rhone lie the Cevennes mountains, ranging upward to more than a mile in height, but with relatively low foothills and generally good transportation facilities. To the east of the Rhone Valley lie the Alps, heralded by Mont Blanc, almost 16,000 feet high.

Italy itself is cut off from the rest of the Axis by ranges of the Alps towering upward from 6,000 feet, with only one gap until, to the east, the foothills toward the Danube Valley are reached.

Thus even the most amateur consideration reveals that reasonably convenient access from the Mediterranean coast to the expanded Reich is narrowly limited. The Nazis can concentrate their defenses in a relatively few strong points against any such threat as now looms.

This does not mean that the United Nations can not get to Berlin from the Mediterranean. It does mean that the current operations are child's play as contrasted with what is to come if this really is preliminary to a second European front. It means that the casualty lists are nearly all in the future. It means that in the light of the most realistic information available from Central Europe those who now talk peace in a very short time are most likely to be very wrong.

The success news so far is swell. Even second-guessing, we agree with the strategists who planned our present course. If it fails, we shall still think they did the proper thing at a good time.

But we want to give solemn, heart-felt warning that premature optimism is going to result in unnecessary heartbreak later. For us, this war is just getting started.

On top of this, we dare not dismiss the war with Japan as something easily handled in a short time. We have made little progress in the Pacific. In fact we have been almost completely on the defensive thus far except for a few brief blows such as in the Solomon Islands. We have a long hard road ahead of us in this fight with the Japanese who will not be overcome without a long hard fight.

We dare not let up for a moment in the pressure we have started and here at home we cannot permit an optimism which will undermine the war effort we have undertaken.

Washington at a Glance

By Charles P. Stewart

WASHINGTON — The suddenness of the war tide's change from a decidedly pro-Axis direction into one somewhat in the democracies' favor has muddled official Washington considerably. It isn't that officialdom is otherwise than gratified but it finds it difficult to readjust itself on such short notice. It went to bed one night recently, trying to think up broadcasts calculated to discount public discouragement and awoke the next morning to tackle the job of staving off popular over-optimism.

The administration obviously seeks to give the impression that it picked its time for launching our northwestern African invasion well in advance of the actual beginning of the offensive and sprung it precisely at the selected moment.

I have my personal doubts of the accuracy of this version.

The administration folk knew, to a deadline, just when they had a congressional election coming on. Naturally they likewise knew to a certainty that if, as the November 3 polling places were in the very act of opening, the voters had been informed of our new African operation, they would have registered an absolutely unprecedented victory.

Instead the African performance, though literally already in its incipency, still was a secret, I'd guess, and the party got a kick in the slats that was a record-breaker.

Military Decision
Now it's, all very well to contend that our administration is too high-minded to let a little matter like a congressional majority figure in its reasonings relative to war strategy; only I'm betting that a trifling question of November 2, 3 or 4 wouldn't have influenced that African announcement, if Washington had had it available on election eve. Instead, the disclosure would have been militarily advantageous to us from the legislative standpoint.

No, our sea, aviation and potential land invasion commands clearly discerned the democracies' possibilities of a huge gain against the Axis by an instant swipe at the enemy and took a crack at it on their own responsibility.

Right now beaten candidates at the last congressional election are complaining that they were licked because Uncle Sam was so slow in breaking into offensive belligerency. And, at the very time that these speeches were being written, he was landing in northwestern Africa—but the speeches' authors didn't know it.

Administration spokesmen aren't afraid even yet badly enough in reverse to make a speedy democratic victory over the Axis a practicality.

They're not afraid that we won't win, but that we won't win fast enough.

It's interesting to note that out Latin American neighbors are lining up with us more and more solidly. Argentina, as we know, has been a little balky, but northwestern Africa is a closer associate of the Argentine Republic than we are. If we are going to dominate that "bulge" it'll pay the Argentines to get in cahoots with us. Along the South American east coast they speak of "Africanos." They consider the white folk there as part of themselves—which they are, indeed.

Franco's Hold Insecure
And Spain figures in it. Spanish Dictator Franco is totalitarian, but his country is principally democratic, as I know from former residence there. He licked his democracy in a hard civil war. However, he doesn't hold it very vigorously. Herr Hitler himself has served noticed that he doesn't intend to interfere there.

It all mixes into Africa materially. Brazil (a traditional friend of this country) and the northwestern Africa continent are very closely tied together with the U.S.A.

Even Argentina, if it stays pro-Axis (which it won't do), won't make much difference. It's in too much of a minority—seven or eight millions versus Brazil's 30 or 40 millions. Up the coast, to the northward, there are a few more millions, but not enough to count materially.

We thing of all these countries as western hemispherical. They are, geographically, but they enter into the wartime dope, globally speaking.

And some of 'em sideswipe western Africa.

It isn't a merely international muss, naturally; it's inter-globular.

To think of it as inter-American is just to localize it.

Care Growing Children Need at Different Ages

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE HUMAN animal experiences so many and such profound changes in the early years of life that were a physician acquainted only with the adult body he would hardly know how to examine a newborn baby. He would be justified in thinking it was a new species of animal.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

The proportions of the newborn baby are all different. The head is much larger in proportion to the body and the upper part of the head is away out of proportion to the lower. Watching the eyes, if you get a chance to find them open, you will notice that they move independently of one another and make no attempt to focus on objects as an adult's do.

The abdomen is much larger than the chest, due to the size of the liver. The abdomen is the furnace which prepares all the materials for growth and since that baby has to increase two or three times its size in a year or two, the furnace must be adequate.

Activities Limited

The activities of this little bundle of humanity are naturally strictly limited. It tends to respond with mass movements when stimulated. That is, the whole body moves rather than a part, as is the case with an adult. He will draw up his legs, beat his arms about, shake his head and roll over in one movement.

It is doubtful how much the baby sees, hears, smells or tastes. Its sensory world is certainly very different from ours.

Everything the baby does is a gradual pattern of improvement. The sequence of motor activity is as follows:

- 1 month—lies on abdomen and lifts chin.
- 2 months—lies on abdomen and lifts chin and chest.
- 3 months—lies on back, reaches for object, such as a ball, usually misses it.
- 4 months—sits with support.
- 5 months—sits in mother's lap, grasps object.
- 6 months—sits on chair, grasps dangling object.
- 7 months—sits alone.
- 8 months—stands with help.
- 9 months—stands holding furniture.
- 10 months—creeps.
- 11 months—walks with support when led.
- 12 months—able to pull itself to standing position by grasping furniture.
- 13 months—climbs stairs.
- 14 months—stands alone.
- 15 months—walks alone without help.

Here is the observation on activities of an eighteen-months-old baby:

He carries things to the porch; a spade, a wheelbarrow and a cart. He stooped over to pick up the spade, but arranged his feet several times before he could keep his balance when he leaned over. He backed down two steps of the porch, on his hands and knees, and walked up and down a narrow path on the lawn. When he fell down, he picked himself up by keeping his hands on the ground until he was sure his feet were steady.

CHAPTER FORTY-ONE

MARY AWOKE slowly, to the twittering of spring robins and the placid warmth of the sun. Somewhere Fran was singing a lilting swing number from "Always in My Heart." Peacefully she watched three seagulls wing their screaming way past her window and out to sea. Last night was not a dream! Her body thrilled again to the memory of Bruce Martin's kisses, his strong, yet gentle embrace. And she would see him tonight!

She threw back the covers, slid her feet into her slippers and wrapped her white robe about her. It was then she saw Fran's open suitcases on the floor.

"You going away for the weekend?" she called, coming into the bright kitchen a few minutes later, looking rosy and fresh, her bright hair still pinned up from her shower. "What on earth!" she added.

Fran was shutting happily from service porch to kitchen. The kitchen was cluttered with ironing board, baking dishes, cleaning fluid. "I'm doing a little washing, ironing, baking and breakfast cooking," sang Fran. "I've been working on the railroad!" She pulled out three layers of chocolate cake from the oven, then dashed back to turn off the water in the washbasin on the porch.

Mary laughed helplessly. "You make an adorable lunatic." Fran came running back to grab Mary in a bear hug and waltz her around the kitchen, dodging tables, chairs and ironing board. Then, breathless and laughing, she shoved her toward the sugar bin. "You make the frosting," she demanded, "while I whip up a smattering of breakfast. You make the best frosting, and everything has to be of the best!"

"Why?" cried Mary.

Fran slammed the ice box door with her elbow and carried grapefruit, bacon and eggs across to the sink. "Because it's for our wedding picnic," she grinned. "You and I and Ken and Burke are leaving for Yuma right after your work to-night, driving till dawn, and then Burke and I are contributing five bucks to some lucky justice of the peace in that fair burg. After that we'll have the picnic. It's the home wedding touch."

"Fran!" Mary put down the sugar and grabbed Fran in another hug. "Oh, Fran—that's wonderful! Did you decide last night?"

"Yep. When Burke got his orders to leave for the Navy on Monday and thought it was unfair to me to marry him first I decided in a jiffy. You think," I told him, "you're going to find some lovely Australian hussy and you don't want to be tied down. I'll fix that." She waved a peremptory hand at Mary. "Hurry up with that frosting."

Gasoline Rationing Questions Answered

CLEVELAND, Nov. 18.—(AP)—If your sister doesn't need all the gasoline coupons allotted her under the forthcoming mileage rationing, you can use the extras—provided you also use her car.

If you have a gasoline storage tank on your property, you still can draw from it after December 1—provided you destroy one coupon every time you take out four gallons.

But you won't get any kind of coupon book until you dispose of all tires over and above the five you're permitted to have.

The Office of Price Administration made these things clear today through the following questions and answers, compiled by the Cleveland Regional Office of War Information for the enlightenment of motorists still in the dark about some phases of the mileage rationing program.

The list is made up of questions most commonly submitted to the OPA.

Q.—Why has the term "gasoline rationing" been changed in official government statements to "mileage rationing?"

A.—Because the primary purpose of this phase of the rationing program is to conserve tires. That can be best accomplished by curtailing driving, which causes wear on tires. By reducing the amount of available gasoline, the government will bring about a proportionate reduction in mileage.

Q.—If I own a sixth tire that is absolutely no good, am I still required to surrender it?

A.—You must surrender all tires in excess of five to an automobile in order to obtain a basic coupon book. Age, size, condition make no difference. Even fleet owners of passenger cars can retain no more than one spare per vehicle.

Q.—What do I do to turn in a tire to the government?

A.—Notify the nearest railway express agency and it will be collected without charge to you. If convenient, take it to the nearest Railway Express agency.

Q.—My sister drives her automobile very little. She will not need four gallons of gasoline a week. May I use her extra coupons?

A.—You may, if you drive that car for which the book was issued.

Q.—I have a large gasoline storage tank at my country place. May I continue to use that gasoline after December 1?

A.—You may, provided you destroy coupons in your ration book equal to the four gallons a week you are allowed under rationing. In other words, you are required to destroy one coupon.

Q.—What is going to happen

As they are a gay breakfast, Fran stopped, chattering long enough to say, "I wanted to tell you last night, but I couldn't stay awake long enough. Were you out with Ken?"

"No," Mary ate on demurely, but her rising color betrayed her.

Fran shouted, "Mary!" And as Mary looked up with a blissful smile, she chortled, "Well, knock me down and tie my tongue! Let's have it!"

Mary told her of Bruce's change of heart, their ride.

"Look," cried Fran excitedly. "Let's make it a double wedding! I've always wanted one, ever since I was a kid."

Mary laughed. "He didn't ask me to marry him—not yet," she added in a rapturous whisper. "But I might ask him if he wants to go along tonight."

"Sure!" Fran buttered a slice of toast rapidly. "Sure—and he's sunk after a moonlight ride to Yuma—it's going to be full moon, too—in the same car with a pair of turtle doves like me and Burke."

"Turtle doves?" scoffed Mary. "You mean Mexican fighting cocks?"

"That's love, chickadee," Fran grinned. "We're both so ornery we thought we better keep it in one family. Now you and Bruce will be different. He won't be able to pick a good fight with you, but he'll have a wonderful time taking care of you, making you happy, you're so little and cute and helpless."

As Mary sat at her desk that night signing in applicants with light-hearted speed, she smiled wryly over Fran's description of her. If Fran only knew the double life she was leading, she thought. She seemed to be two people these days: one the sweet, sensitive, confiding Mary who worked in personnel and carried a torch for a handsome test pilot; the other a strange, competent, fearless person, untouched by the storm of personal emotions, responding to orders without question, aware of a grave, wide horizon of new responsibility.

She was called into Denver's office at 8 o'clock. "Do you still want an assignment?"

"Of course," she said automatically.

"I'm glad," he smiled at her. "You've been our lucky piece this time. You cracked the thing we've been working on for three months. We're grateful, Mary Dexter."

"But what did I do?" Mary cried, startled.

He showed a confusing telegram toward her, smiled as she struggled to make the sense of it. "You brought us our positive proof that Joe Banks and his gang are in the big league. Remember the license number you got off the coupe Joe Banks borrowed to take you out? Well, his taking out the car was undoubtedly the reason his friends were angry with him that night. They had it in storage because its number is that of the car that was stopped at the Mexican border four months ago—the car that was carrying the marked blueprints!"

Mary gasped. And she had almost not turned it in!

"We know some of the gang, of course," Denver was going on rapidly now. "We even know they are concentrating their plans on the shipment of planes here now, waiting for exportation facilities. But we have waited to make a real roundup. We need your help in this, Mary."

The wedding plans flashed through Mary's mind even as she answered Denver steadily. "What do I do?"

"You are to have luncheon with Joe Banks now. You are in some desperate, secret trouble which you must talk over with him tonight. Make it urgent that he meet you after work. When your work is over meet him promptly and insist on his keeping his date—because he won't want to."

"Why not?" said Mary, incredulously.

"Because," Denver replied, "we have moved him into the transportation department tonight. At closing time he will learn the shipment of planes is to leave the plant early tomorrow morning. He will be upset, wanting to get this news through to headquarters."

"I see. And you want me to stick with him?"

"Just until he phones. Trace his call and report at once to me. Then you're through for the evening."

"Okay," said Mary. "And good luck with the round-up."

She hurried out of the administration building and crossed the plant grounds toward the cafeteria. A new girl from personnel was walking slowly toward the lunchroom. Mary slowed her pace to walk with her. "How you getting along?" she asked cheerfully.

The girl looked at her resentfully. "I hate it," she said. "I never thought I'd work in a factory! Why, it's not even living."

Mary glanced at the testing field as a plane zoomed into the air, her building swung around over the great building with the F. B. I. the personnel building, the cafeteria building, the hangar. She smiled with sudden warmth at the girl. "I think you'll find plenty of—living here," she said. They went into the brightly lighted cafeteria, and as they started down the counter with their trays Mary's searching eyes picked out Joe Banks.

History Dept. Presents Program On Tuesday Night

The Browning Club held its regular session Tuesday evening with the vice-president, Mrs. Olive Sprenger, presiding. Mrs. Marie Persinger, chairman of the history department, had charge of the program.

"The Story of Alaska, Our Northern Wonderland" was vividly portrayed by Mrs. Mary Minton. She gave a most interesting account of this northern country. "Alaska was first visited by Captain Beary of the Russian Navy, who gave the Czar his claim to Alaska. On Point Hope, in the Arctic Circle, has been discovered the remains of an ancient village which was buried for hundreds of years. In this village there are more than six hundred houses, and the clothing found is similar to that of the Eskimos of today. From the ruins, resemblances of Crete and Greece were found. During her talk, Mrs. Minton showed illustrative pictures, assisted by Mr. Donald Riber.

Mrs. Ada Lanum had as her very interesting topic "Coffee, the American Drink". She related several legends concerning the origin of coffee. It was apparently first discovered by monks in a monastery in Arabia. They guarded their secret very jealously for a number of years and would not permit any berries unroasted to leave the country. Today Brazil produces about seventy percent of all the coffee used, and recently factories are being erected to use the green coffee bean to make plastics.

"Emily Dickerson", early American poetess, born in Amherst, Mass., was the subject of Miss Mazie Rowe's paper. This was clearly and completely given covering her life from the beginning of her literary career. Not until forty years after Miss Dickerson's death were any of her poems published. The first volume was published in 1892.

Mrs. M. E. Stewart Opens Home to Ladies Aid

Thirty-two members of the Ladies' Aid of the Church of Christ, were complimented with a most delightful affair Tuesday evening, when Mrs. M. E. Stewart opened her home to their regular meeting.

Chairs were comfortably arranged in the spacious home, where fall flowers had been placed most effectively.

A business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Otis Stookey, with informal discussions held.

A delicious course suggestive of Thanksgiving was served during the social hour, with Mrs. Stewart's assisting committee, Mrs. A. S. McMurray, Mrs. James Crabtree, Mrs. Norman Trout and Mrs. Stephen Hall, providing most pleasant delights.

City Loan Meeting.

Mr. Paul Van Voorhis, manager, Mr. Ralph E. Lough, assistant manager, and Miss Mary Elizabeth Reser, of the City Loan Company, Washington C. H., went to Columbus Wednesday evening to attend a regional meeting. Mrs. Van Voorhis and Mrs. Lough accompanied them for the evening.

Party in Glendale, Calif.

A luncheon of interest to many here was entertained in Glendale, California on last Sunday by Mr. Dustin Giron, and had as his guests, Mr. Clarence Taylor, Mr. Ronald Dice, Mr. James Braun and Mr. Hughey Backenstoe.

Guests Included With Tuesday Luncheon Club

A delightful session of the Tuesday two-table luncheon-bridge club was entertained by Mrs. Harold Craig, and assembled the members and three guests at her home at one o'clock. A seasonal luncheon, with accompanying delicacies, was an unusual treat and most delicious.

Covers were laid for eight at the dining table, centered with a watergarden of gorgeous red carnations. Throughout the rooms were late garden flowers in artistic arrangements.

The extreme pleasure of the luncheon hour was continued throughout the afternoon's pivot contract game. High score awards were presented to Mrs. Colin C. Campbell and Mrs. Warren Durkee.

Mrs. Walter Fults, Mrs. Robert Meriwether and Mrs. Durkee were guests with the members.

WorldService Guild Met with Mrs. Browning

The ladies of the World Service Guild are indebted to Mrs. A. N. Browning, and her assisting committee, Mrs. Herbert Cocherill, Mrs. Marie Williams, Mrs. Clarence Craig and Miss Minnie Graves, for a most delightful session on Tuesday evening.

The spacious Browning home was a perfect setting with many lovely bouquets of fall flowers from the hostess' garden beautifully arranged.

Miss Marian Christopher had the devotional period, followed by a lovely Thanksgiving reading by Mrs. Marie Williams.

Mrs. Ethel McElwain favored the group with a paper on "Beautiful America."

The nominating committee report gave Mrs. Chester Clay as the retained leader, with Miss Norma Flee as the assistant, Miss Edith Wilson, secretary and Miss Elizabeth Horney, treasurer. A tempting collation completed the very lovely evening.

Hadden - Harper Vows Exchanged On Wednesday

Wednesday at 10:30 A. M. Frances Griffith Harper, daughter of Mrs. J. S. Griffith, became the bride of Herbert S. Hadden, of Detroit, Mich. Their troth was pledged at the Griffith home on North Street.

The couple stood before the fireplace which was banked with palms on either side. Tall cathedral tapers burned on the center of the mantel.

Just before the ceremony witnessed by the families, was a lovely musical program. Mrs. Aubrey Kirby, sister of the bride sang beautifully, "Because", "Still as the Night" and "At Dawning".

Mrs. Homer N. Griffith, of Columbus, sister-in-law of the bride, and Clyde C. Hadden, of Columbus, a brother of the groom, were the attendants.

The bride's brother, Mr. Homer Griffith, of Columbus, gave her in marriage.

Rev. Aubrey E. Kirby, brother-in-law of the bride, performed the impressive ring ceremony.

Immediately after the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the Devins Party Home, after which Mr. and Mrs. Hadden left for an eastern trip. After January 1, they will be at home in Detroit, Mich.

Out-of-town guests were: Mrs. Jennie Clark, of Perry, Ia.; Rev. and Mrs. Aubrey E. Kirby and daughter, Margaret, of Barbenton; Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Weaver and daughter, Mary, of Basil; Mr. and Mrs. Homer N. Griffith and daughter, Joanne; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde C. Hadden, of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hadden, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ruse, and daughter, Phyllis; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Warner and Miss Ella P. Hadden, of Painesville; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Krantz, of Colton; Mr. William E. Hadden, of Dover; Mr. and Mrs. C. Ashbaugh, Mr. and Mrs. David Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jenkins and Miss Nellie Jenkins, of Jackson, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Hadden, of Adrian, Mich.

Blooming Rose Club Meets with Mrs. John Groff

Mrs. John Groff was a charming hostess to the Blooming Rose Club when they met at her home Tuesday evening.

Eleven members were present for the meeting which opened with devotionals led by the president, Mrs. C. E. Hughes, followed by an interesting business session. The club has spent the last several meetings filling boxes for soldiers, seven having been completed to date, and at this gathering, two boxes were made ready to send to Don Roberts and Earl Deering, who are in camp. The ladies also made plans to fill fruit dishes to give to "shut-ins" at Christmas.

A delightful social hour was enjoyed with games played and prizes awarded to Mrs. Orville Wilt and Mrs. Ora Carter. Refreshments of candy and popcorn were greatly enjoyed during the pleasant evening.

Willard Willis Is Genial Host To Bridge Club

Mr. Willard Willis was a most genial and cordial host to the members of the Bridge Masters Club Tuesday evening, entertaining them for dinner at his home on North Street.

A seasonal chicken dinner with accompanying accessories, was enjoyed to the utmost with the hour around the table exceptionally pleasurable.

As usual the keenly contested bridge game aroused the enthusiasm and spirits of the players, with Mr. Willis providing cordial hospitalities during the entire evening. High scores were held by Mr. Eber Coil, Judge Harry Rankin and Mr. W. N. Hay.

Owing to the many peculiarities of play which have been developed in this group in recent sessions, it was decided by unanimous consent to change the name of the organization to "Rubber-Savers' Club" instead of the Bridge Masters Club.

The guests included with the high score holders were Mr. G. C. C. Kidner, Mr. Ed Fite, Mr. W. F. Story, Mr. Forest F. Tipton and Mr. Robert Willis.

The weekly cost of Washington's government is $1,000,000.

An American heavy tank costs approximately $75,000.

Colonial Dames Meet at Home of Mrs. O. W. Finley

The Colonel William Ball Chapter of the National Society of Daughters of American Colonists were most graciously entertained by Mrs. O. W. Finley at her lovely country home on the Waterloo Road near Mt. Sterling.

At noon a most delicious luncheon was served to the guests seated around one long table, attractively decorated with fall flowers in many autumnal shades. After the luncheon hour a delightful program was carried out. The outstanding event being a paper on "Old Churches of America," with pictures and prints of ancient and beautiful churches throughout the United States. Mrs. David Pittenger and Miss Valeria Bostwick gave splendid reports of work being done by the Col. William Ball Chapter in supplying magazines to the USO in Columbus. The meeting drew to a close with the guests bidding a reluctant adieu to a most charming hostess. The guests enjoying this delightful affair were Mrs. Gustavus Andereg, Lockbourne, Mrs. Eleanor Bissel, Circleville, Miss Valeria Bostwick, Bexley Park Rd., Columbus, Mrs. Ada Beach Chance, London, Mrs. Homer H. Peters, Lockbourne, Mrs. R. H. Trimble, Mt. Sterling, Mrs. David E. Pittenger, Columbus, Mrs. Frank B. Thompson, Columbus, Mrs. Willis Jones, Mrs. Bruno A. Schadel, Mrs. John H. ## WAR DRAMA GIVEN AT HIGH SCHOOL

Poem Based on Nazi Atrocity Presented at Chapel

The Washington High School heard Friday for the first time in this city Edna St. Vincent Millay's new poem, "The Murder of Lidice." It was presented as a broadcast over the public address system in the high school auditorium by the dramatics class. The poem was presented over station WLW several weeks ago in its world premiere.

The broadcast takes one half hour and tells the story of a Czechoslovakian village that was annihilated by the Germans for the crime of hiding the killers of Reinhard Heydrich, a Nazi official.

All the student body expressed appreciation with applause at the end of the broadcast, and several teachers said that it was the most impressive chapel program ever held in the school and ought to be given to every student body in the United States, since it was truth and not fiction.

The broadcast was directed by Miss S. L. Keck, dramatics coach at Washington High School. The cast included Patricia Nisley, commentator; Donald Riber, narrator; Betty Robinson, the mother; Mary Kathryn Bush as the second mother; Gloria Hoppes as the little child; Eugene Heath as the young lover; Dale Tool, the father; Eleanor Paul, Beata (a young girl); Dotty McGinnis as the second narrator, and a musical background by recordings.

The dramatics class is preparing these programs as available material for clubs or groups who may desire to use them.

or two to consummate. Such a period would have delayed concentration for the attack from the west on Tunis, and we hope on Tripoli.

Admiral Darlan's "cease fire" order after three days of resistance helped make a "mopping up" period unnecessary, the president said.

"The future French government," Mr. Roosevelt said, "will be established—not by any individual in metropolitan France or overseas—but by the French people themselves after they have been set free by the victory of the United Nations."

Assailing "loose talk" and what he considered politically-inspired criticism of the war effort, the president said that persons without access to all the facts almost inevitably speak from guesswork.

"They do not know the facts," he asserted, "and, therefore, the value of their statements becomes greatly reduced. Nor, must we in the actual progress of the war, lend ears to the clamor of politics or to criticism from those who, as we know in our hearts, are actuated by political motives."

In London, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the House of Commons today that the administration of Madagascar, recently occupied by the British, was being handed over to Gen. Charles DeGaulle's French national committee.

Vichy representatives and "other quislings," he said, have been excluded from Madagascar.

served terms for treason, murder, rape, kidnapping, arson and other "heinous crimes" if their conduct has been fitting for at least six months after their release from confinement.

Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey announced today that men deferred as essential farm workers must get approval of their draft boards if they wish to leave their jobs or else be classified as available for immediate military service.

This applies to married men with children as well as to all others, Hershey's aides said, and is effective immediately.

The regulation was revealed in an announcement of instructions sent by Hershey to local boards.

The 18 and 19-year-olds who registered last June 30 are to be called for induction in the order of their birthdays so far as practicable, with the oldest being called first.

contingents in south Tunisia. The Allied southern column was reported advancing from western Algeria into Tunisia in an enveloping arc which would cut the road to Libya and divide the Axis forces.

Reuters said Allied parachutists had landed "close to an important town in Tunisia and were moving swiftly eastward." Huge American transport planes, escorted by fighters, carried the parachute troops to their objectives without opposition, it was reported.

Meanwhile, a dispatch from Monrovia, Liberia, suggested that the strategic naval base at Dakar, French West Africa, might fall to the Allies through negotiations. It quoted a Vichy broadcast as reporting that a military mission from Dakar was on its way to Allied-occupied North Africa. Allied headquarters in London, however, had no confirmation of the report.

Strongly defended by French troops and warships, Dakar has

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—(P)—Grain prices drifted lower today, corn and rye leading the way with losses of about a cent a bushel at times.

Some grain men expressed belief the slow decline of wheat values recently, with closing quotations about 1 to 2 cents lower than at last week's peaks, may have relieved the tight situation which confronted some millers who complained about difficulty in operating with flour prices at ceilings. Continued slow flour demand, uncertainty about the government program to make loan wheat available to mills and indications that imports of Canadian feeds will be encouraged were blamed for the market's weakness.

Wheat closed unchanged to 3/4c lower compared with yesterday, December 1.24 1/4-3/4, May 1.27 1/4-1/2; corn 1/4-3/4c down, December 82 1/2c, May 87 1/4-1/2c; oats 5/8-3/4c higher; rye 1/4-3/4c lower; soybeans 3/4c off. Traders said the advance in oats was due largely to short covering following yesterday's break of more than a cent.

long been regarded as a potential Axis threat to South America and even to the United States. On the Russian front, Red army headquarters reported fresh Soviet gains in the Caucasus while the Germans sacrificed 1,250 lives to score a minor advance in the bloody northside factory district of Stalingrad.

The Soviet command quoted Nazi prisoners as saying the German armies were being bled so white that many companies (normally about 100 men) were reduced to only 10 or 15 effective.

Spain's move to mobilize more of her potential 3,000,000 soldiers is generally accepted in informed European quarters as a bona fide effort to avoid fighting, rather than any step toward military cooperation with her Axis friends, it was indicated in reliable private advices reaching New York today.

With German military might sitting firmly on his northern doorstep and powerful Allied forces arrayed across the narrow Gibraltar Strait to the south, Generalissimo Francisco Franco has authorized reinforcement of his land, air and sea forces, it was disclosed yesterday (Tuesday) in Madrid.

Public Hearing Held on County Budget for 1943

AUDITOR BAUGHN EXPLAINS EVERY PART OF BUDGET

No Criticism Voiced at Public Hearing Held Tuesday Afternoon

At a public hearing on the Fayette County Budget for 1943, held in the Probate Court room by the County Commissioners, Tuesday afternoon, County Auditor Roy Baughn explained the budget at length and there was no word of criticism made regarding the budget as worked out by the county's Budget Commission.

The budget calls for $152,000, approximately $14,000 more than the budget this year. Auditor Baughn broke down each department and explained each item listed.

A group of business men, county officials, representatives of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, a representative of the Ohio Public Expenditure Council, City Manager Edwin Ducey and others attended the hearing. Many of them took part in the discussion and asked questions concerning various phases of the budget.

Baughn, who displayed intimate knowledge of all departments, and set forth the expenditures clearly so they could be readily understood, said the increased budget for the coming year was due largely to the expense of conducting the reappraisal of real estate, placed at $3,100, and in other departments where increases were necessary.

Baughn explained how the increased budget would be balanced through increased revenues, which he explained at length.

He stated that each department had been asked to submit its budget and that when this was done very few of the departmental heads had increased their budgets to any pronounced degree.

After Baughn had gone into every phase of the budget he asked for questions and criticisms and while many questions were asked, no criticism was voiced.

W. R. Evans, of the research department, Ohio Chamber of Commerce, a former state examiner, was asked for suggestions, but stated that his survey here had not been completed, and when it is, he would have mimeograph copies for distribution.

County Engineer Robert E. Willis was asked by Baughn to tell of increased costs carried in the budget for his department and said it was due to map making and other work in connection with the forthcoming reappraisal of real estate.

Evans also stated that if any criticism is made when his work is finished, it is to be along a constructive line and not otherwise. W. H. Conner, of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, was also present for the hearing.

Upon his request Baughn explained how the budget would be balanced by increased receipts in various departments, with no increase in the tax rates. Included in the increases noted was a general property tax increase expected to reach $4,500.

Ray R. Wilson, representing the Ohio Public Expenditure Council, stated he was working on schools, township and other books in the county at the present time.

Fred Rost, representing the local Chamber of Commerce committee in the absence of the regular chairman, said that after the officials had worked out the budget he believed the public hearing afforded ample opportunity to go into it. Ray R. Maddox said he would like to have some information about the municipal and school budget.

City Auditor G. B. Rodgers responded that the city budget was within $17 of the budget last year and that one of the big problems was meeting the hospitalization bills of the indigent.

Maddox stated that he believed the schools were expending a lot of money and he would like to know where it goes.

In response to a query, Baughn

GAS SHORTAGE NOT LIKELY TO BE FELT HERE

Curtailment Is Ordered by WPB Where War Factories Increase Consumption

It is not likely that the homes in Washington C. H. that are heated by gas furnaces will be any colder this year because of the wartime curtailment of gas ordered in some sections by the War Production Board.

F. E. Hill, manager of the Dayton Power and Light Co. in this district, said in commenting on the WPB order that no instructions had been received here and added that it was doubtful if any would be. He explained that there were no big industrial users of gas in this particular area and that the mains which serve it come almost directly from the gas fields of West Virginia.

Hill expressed the belief that any curtailment in gas consumption would have to be put up to the consumers on a voluntary basis as a patriotic action because it flows in a steady stream and, unlike packaged commodities and even gasoline, it cannot be bundled up and rationed in parcels.

He said his company "will cooperate with the war effort" and the WPB to the fullest "called on", and added that he felt confident that gas users here would set back their thermostats if the war effort demanded a curtailment here.

Curtailment already has been effected indirectly, Hill pointed out, through a WPB ban on installation on gas-using equipment after this month.

In ordering the curtailment, the WPB contended that the needs of war industries were reducing the reserve margins on many gas plants "to a point where actual shortage may occur during cold weather unless domestic consumption is reduced. The shortage exists for both artificial and natural gas, it continued, urging conservation in house heating, cooking and other domestic uses.

Hill pointed out that except under extreme conditions, which at present seemed very remote, the gas consumption here would not interfere with any war industries.

Although there are comparatively few homes heated with gas furnaces in Washington C. H., the great majority of kitchens are equipped with gas cooking ranges and most hot water heaters are operated with gas. Hill said he could not see how even the gas pressure would be effected here by the wartime demand for gas.

Ray R. Wilson, representing the Ohio Public Expenditure Council, stated he was working on schools, township and other books in the county at the present time.

Fred Rost, representing the local Chamber of Commerce committee in the absence of the regular chairman, said that after the officials had worked out the budget he believed the public hearing afforded ample opportunity to go into it. Ray R. Maddox said he would like to have some information about the municipal and school budget.

City Auditor G. B. Rodgers responded that the city budget was within $17 of the budget last year and that one of the big problems was meeting the hospitalization bills of the indigent.

Maddox stated that he believed the schools were expending a lot of money and he would like to know where it goes.

In response to a query, Baughn

DARBY IS NAMED REGIONAL HEAD

Social Security Office Announces Change

Appointment of C. C. Darby as assistant regional director of the Social Security Board was announced today. The announcement was made at the Cleveland regional office of the federal agency by Miss Mary E. Woods, regional director for Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky. He is known to many in Fayette County.

A native of Ohio, Darby attended Ohio State University in 1916 and 1917, leaving the student body to serve as sergeant with the 112th ammunition train of the United States Overseas Army. At the end of the war he returned to Ohio State University where he completed his education, specializing in social sciences. After ten years as executive secretary of the Children's Home Society of Ohio, he became director of child welfare activities for the American Legion in Ohio.

Darby was appointed to the staff of the Social Security Board in March, 1937, and has since been manager of the Columbus field office. His successor at Columbus will be named shortly.

TALE OF ESCAPE FROM CHINA IS TOLD ROTARIANS

Missionary - Architect Also Discusses Some of Questions on India

An interesting story of his experiences in getting out of China to come back to this country, two months ago, was told to Rotarians and their guests at the Rotary weekly luncheon Tuesday at the Country Club, by C. W. Wiant, a missionary and architect.

Wiant was a member of the Rotary Club at Foo Chow, China and served as president of that organization for some time.

Traveling from China hundreds of miles in a Red Cross truck in order to reach a place where he could secure passage on a plane to India, the speaker told of many incidents in the hazardous journey which made his experience a lifetime memory. After waiting nine days at the point where he could get a plane, he at last was able to gain a seat in a transport plane which had been used for soldiers and was carried to India part way at an altitude of 18,000 feet to escape Jap gunners.

While on the subject of India the speaker related that there were many false impressions of British control of that country and said that England does not attempt to interfere with local government set up in India by the people of that great country, but does maintain control of the foreign relations of that colony.

His description of the thrilling long steamship trip to this country over a roundabout route in which submarine periscopes were sighted at intervals and the ship turned every seven minutes on a zigzag course to avoid torpedoes, proved highly interesting to his hearers.
